1. BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The project titled “Media Watchdog: Monitoring for Ethical Reporting on Human Rights Violations” grant contract number: NDICI-THE-NEAR/2023/448-097, dated October 13rd October, 2023, implemented by the “Center for Democracy and Human Rights” (CEDEM) in partnership with the NGO “Sociological Center of Montenegro” (SOCEN), financially supported by the European Union, through the Delegation of European Union to Montenegro, and co-financed by the Ministry of Public Administration, is developed with the overall objective to promote and foster accurate and ethical reporting on human rights violations in the media by exposing dis- and misinformation, holding media outlets accountable for inaccurate reporting, and providing training and support to media professionals. This overall objective will be reached through two specific objectives being: 1) to establish a monitoring and evaluation system to track the accuracy and ethics of media reporting on human rights violations, as well as processing cases of inaccurate and unethical reporting, and to use this data to hold media outlets accountable and advocate for improved reporting practices; and 2) to improve skills, knowledge and capacities of media professionals in terms of reporting on human rights violations, through developing and implementing a comprehensive training program, as well as establishing and promoting cooperation between media professionals and judiciary representatives.

The key stakeholder groups involved in the Action include media professionals, media outlets, judiciary representatives, students of journalism and legal sciences, and the general public in Montenegro. Consultations were held with these stakeholder groups to gather their perspectives, insights, and needs related to media reporting, human rights, and access to justice.

The expected outcomes of the Action are as follows:

- O1) Monitoring of the accuracy and ethics of media reporting on human rights violations, as well as processing cases of inaccurate and unethical reporting conducted;
- O2) A training program for media professionals on reporting on human rights violations developed and implemented, and
- O3) A culture of collaboration and mutual support between media professionals and judiciary representatives in terms of reporting accurately and ethically on human rights violations fostered.
